

Grandma's Secret Recipe

Grandma's Secret Recipe

A pinch of comfort, a cup of love,
Measured by angels up above.

No written notes, just a gentle hand,
The finest taste in all the land.

With flour on her apron, white as snow,
She'd watch the yeast and dough just grow.

She said the secret, in every part,
Was baking with a happy heart.

A dash of patience, slow and sweet,
To make the dish a joyous treat.

Though years may pass, this magic stays,
A taste of home, all our days.
